

DEATH OF MR. ADAM HILGER, F.R.A.S.—Members of the Association, and astronomers generally, will learn with great regret of the death from a bicycle accident of Mr. Adam Hilger. Mr. Hilger was staying at Brighton for Easter, and whilst riding a bicycle on Easter Monday, became entangled in the traffic, and received injuries from which he died a few hours later. Mr. Hilger's reputation as an optician and instrument maker was of the highest, and his death creates a void which it will be difficult to fill.
