

Cecil Albert Schurr.

Lieutenant C. A. Schurr, R.N.V.R., enlisted in the Air Service in August 1914, was promoted to warrant officer July 1915, and to lieutenant in December 1915. Since the last promotion he had held the position of officer-in-charge of complete aircraft at the R.N.A.S. central supply depôt, an extremely responsible post. Elected a Member of our Association on November 26, 1913, he was a member of great promise, and was specially interested in calculations on the orbits of Comets. Thus he noted that the elements of Delavan's Comet indicated an occultation of the comet by the Moon on 1916, June 22, and drew the attention of observers to it. When on holiday at Margate he was seized with heart trouble owing to severe overwork and died on June 27.
