

RECENT DEATHS. — The month of January 1892, fatal to so many distinguished men, took from us two of the most distinguished of English astronomers, Sir G. B. Airy, on January 2, and Prof. J. C. Adams on January 21.

Dr. Joseph Kleiber, whose catalogue of meteor orbits has attracted much attention of late, died at Nice, on February 12.